INDEX TO VOLUME 29

D

AUTHOR

This subject is arranged alphabetically by author.

Abramovitz, Mimi. Point/Counterpoint: Should all social work students be educated for social change? Pro! No. 1, Commentary: pp. 6-11; Response: pp. 17-18.

Bardill, D. Ray. Point/Counterpoint: Should all social work students be educated for social change? Con! No. 1, Commentary: pp. 13-17; Response: pp. 11-13.

Begun, Audrey L. Human behavior and the social environment: The vulnerability, risk, and resilience model. No. 1, pp. 26-35.

Bishop, Kathleen Kirk, Rounds, Kathleen, & Weil, Marie. P.L. 99-457: Preparation for social work practice with infants and toddlers with disabilities and their families. No. 1, pp. 36-45.

Black, Phyllis N., Jeffreys, Dorothy, & Hartley, Elizabeth Kennedy. Personal history of psychosocial trauma in the early life of social work and business students. No. 2, pp. 171-180.

Bogo, Marion, Raphael, Dennis, & Roberts, Roberta. Interests, activities, and self-identification among social work students: Toward a definition of social work identity. No. 3, pp. 279-292.

Brawley, Edward Allan. (see Schindler, Ruben)

Burkett, Suzanne. (see Mokuau, Noreen)

Butler, Amy C. The impact of the 1-year-residency requirement on students preferring part-time study. No. 2, pp. 212-223.

Carrillo, Dorothy F., Holzhalb, Carol M., & Thyer, Bruce A. Assessing social work students' attitudes related to cultural diversity: A review of selected measures. No. 3, pp. 263-268.

Cole, Bettie S. & Lewis, Robert G. Gatekeeping through termination of unsuitable social work students: Legal issues and guidelines. No. 2, pp. 150-159.

Coyne, Ann. (see Russel, Robin)

DePoy, Elizabeth. (see Werrbach, Gail B.)

Dore, Martha M. The practice-teaching parallel in educating the micropractitioner. No. 2, pp. 181-190.

Dunlap, Katherine M. A history of research in social work education: 1915-1991. No. 3, pp. 293-301.

Ewalt, Patricia L. (see Mokuau, Noreen)

Finch, Wilbur A., Jr. (see Mor-Barak, Michál E.)

Fraser, Mark W., Jenson, Jeffrey M., & Lewis, Robert E. Research training in social work: The continuum is not a continuum. No. 1, pp. 46-62.

Gill, Phyllis. (see Russel, Robin)

Gingerich, Wallace J. (see Strom, Kimberly)

Greene, Roberta R. (see Saltman, Joan E. Ephross)

Hartley, Elizabeth Kennedy. (see Black, Phyllis N.)

Holland, Thomas P. & Kilpatrick, Allie C. Using narrative techniques to enhance multicultural practice. No. 3, pp. 302-308.

Holzhalb, Carol M. (see Carrillo, Dorothy F.)

Huber, Ruth & Orlando, Betty Pryor. Macro Assignment: THINK BIG! No. 1, pp. 19-25.

Hull, Grafton H., Jr. (see Mokuau, Noreen)

Jeffreys, Dorothy. (see Black, Phyllis N.)

Jenson, Jeffrey M. (see Fraser, Mark W.)

Karger, Howard Jacob. Point/Counterpoint: Do schools of social work need professional deans and directors? Con! No. 2, Commentary: pp. 146-148; Response: p. 145.

Kilpatrick, Allie C. (see Holland, Thomas P.)

Knight, Carolyn. A comparison of advanced standing and regular master's students' performance in the second-year field practicum: Field instructors' assessments. No. 3, pp. 309-317.

Kreuger, Larry W. Point-Counterpoint: Should there be a moratorium on articles that rank schools of social work based on faculty publications? Yes! No. 3, Commentary: pp. 240-245; Response: pp. 251-252.

Kropf, Nancy P. (see Tully, Carol T.)

LeCroy, Craig Winston & Ryan, Linda Galdieri. Children's mental health: Designing a model social work curriculum. No. 3, pp. 318-327.

Lewis, Robert E. (see Fraser, Mark W.)

Lewis, Robert G. (see Cole, Bettie S.)

McCroskey, Jacquelyn. (see Mor-Barak, Michál E.)

Meinert, Roland. Point/Counterpoint: Should there be a moratorium on articles that rank schools of social work based on faculty publications? No! No. 3, Commentary: pp. 247-251; Response: pp. 245-246.

Midgley, James. Point/Counterpoint: Do schools of social work need professional deans and direc- tors? Pro! No. 2, Commentary: pp. 142-144; Response: p. 149.

Midgley, James & Simbi, Peter. Promoting a development focus in the community organization curriculum: Relevance of the African experience. No. 3, pp. 269-278.

Mokuau, Noreen & Ewalt, Patricia L. School-agency collaboration: Enriching teaching, scholarship, and service in state hospital placements. No. 3, pp. 328-337.

Mokuau, Noreen, Hull, Grafton H., Jr., & Burkett, Suzanne. Development of knowledge by undergraduate program directors. No. 2, pp. 160-170.

Mor-Barak, Michál E., Poverny, Linda M., Finch, Wilbur A., Jr., McCroskey, Jacquelyn, Nedelman, Helen L., Seck, Essie Tramel, & Sullivan, Richard. A model curriculum for occupational social work. No. 1, pp. 63-77.

Morris, Judith Kolb. Interacting oppressions: Teaching social work content on women of color. No. 1, pp. 99-110.

Nedelman, Helen L. (see Mor-Barak, Michál E.)

Orlando, Betty Pryor. (see Huber, Ruth)

Poverny, Linda M. (see Mor-Barak, Michál E.)

Price, Janet L. (see Tully, Carol T.)

Raphael, Dennis. (see Bogo, Marion)

Roberts, Roberta. (see Bogo, Marion)

Rogge, Mary E. Social work, disenfranchised communities, and the natural environment: Field education opportunities. No. 1, pp. 111-120.

Rounds, Kathleen. (see Bishop, Kathleen Kirk)

Russel, Robin, Gill, Phyllis, Coyne, Ann, & Woody, Jane. Dysfunction in the family of origin of MSW and other graduate students. No. 1, pp. 121-129.

Ryan, Linda Galdieri. (see LeCroy, Craig Winston)

Saltman, Joan E. Ephross & Greene, Roberta R. Social workers' perceived knowledge and use of human behavior theory. No. 1, pp. 88-98.

Saunders, Edward J. Confronting academic dishonesty. No. 2, pp. 224-231.

Schindler, Ruben & Brawley, Edward Allan. Community college programs for the human services: A continuing challenge for social work education and practice. No. 3, pp. 253-262.

Seck, Essie Tramel. (see Mor-Barak, Michál E.)

Simbi, Peter. (see Midgley, James)

Sirles, Elizabeth A. (see Zakutansky, Theresa J.)

Strom, Kimberly & Gingerich, Wallace J. Educating students for the new market realities. No. 1, pp. 78-87.

Sullivan, Richard. (see Mor-Barak, Michál E.)

Thyer, Bruce A. (see Carrillo, Dorothy F.)

Tully, Carol T., Kropf, Nancy P., & Price, Janet L. Is field a hard hat area? A study of violence in field placements. No. 2, pp. 191-199.

Weil, Marie. (see Bishop, Kathleen Kirk)

Werrbach, Gail B. & DePoy, Elizabeth. Social work students' interest in working with persons with serious mental illness. No. 2, pp. 200-211.

Woody, Jane. (see Russel, Robin)

Zakutansky, Theresa J. & Sirles, Elizabeth A. Ethical and legal issues in field education: Shared responsibility and risk. No. 3, pp. 338-347.

SUBJECT

This section is arranged alphabetically by subject and primary author.

Administration

Cole, Bettie S. & Lewis, Robert G. Gatekeeping through termination of unsuitable social work students: Legal issues and guidelines. No. 2, pp. 150-159.

Karger, Howard Jacob. Point/Counterpoint: Do schools of social work need professional deans and directors? Con! No. 2, Commentary: pp. 146-148; Response: p. 145.

Midgley, James. Point/Counterpoint: Do schools of social work need professional deans and directors? Pro! No. 2, Commentary: pp. 142-144; Response: p. 149.

Curriculum

Begun, Audrey L. Human behavior and the social environment: The vulnerability, risk, and resilience model. No. 1, pp. 26-35.

Holland, Thomas P. & Kilpatrick, Allie C. Using narrative techniques to enhance multicultural practice. No. 3, pp. 302-308.

Huber, Ruth & Orlando, Betty Pryor. Macro Assignment: THINK BIG! No. 1, pp. 19-25.

LeCroy, Craig Winston & Ryan, Linda Galdieri. Children's mental health: Designing a model social work curriculum. No. 3, pp. 318-327.

Midgley, James & Simbi, Peter. Promoting a development focus in the community organization curriculum: Relevance of the African experience. No. 3, pp. 269-278.

Mor-Barak, Michál E., Poverny, Linda M., Finch, Wilbur A., Jr., McCroskey, Jacquelyn, Nedelman, Helen L., Seck, Essie Tramel, & Sullivan, Richard.

A model curriculum for occupational social work. No. 1, pp. 63-77.

Schindler, Ruben & Brawley, Edward Allan. Community college programs for the human services: A continuing challenge for social work education and practice. No. 3, pp. 253-262.

Field Instruction

Mokuau, Noreen & Ewalt, Patricia L. School-agency collaboration: Enriching teaching, scholarship, and service in state hospital placements. No. 3, pp. 328-337.

Rogge, Mary E. Social work, disenfranchised communities, and the natural environment: Field education opportunities. No. 1, pp. 111-120.

Tully, Carol T., Kropf, Nancy P., & Price, Janet L. Is field a hard hat area? A study of violence in field placements. No. 2, pp. 191-199.

Zakutansky, Theresa J. & Sirles, Elizabeth A. Ethical and legal issues in field education: Shared responsibility and risk. No. 3, pp. 338-347.

Practice

Dore, Martha M. The practice-teaching parallel in educating the micropractitioner. No. 2, pp. 181-190.

Saltman, Joan E. Ephross & Greene, Roberta R. Social workers' perceived knowledge and use of human behavior theory. No. 1, pp. 88-98.

Research

Dunlap, Katherine M. A history of research in social work education: 1915-1991. No. 3, pp. 293-301.

Fraser, Mark W., Jenson, Jeffrey M., & Lewis, Robert E. Research training in social work: The continuum is not a continuum. No. 1, pp. 46-62.

Kreuger, Larry W. Point/Counterpoint: Should there be a moratorium on articles that rank schools of social work based on faculty publications? Yes! No. 3, Commentary: pp. 240-245; Response: pp. 251-252.

Meinert, Roland. Point/Counterpoint: Should there be a moratorium on articles that rank schools of social work based on faculty publications? No! No. 3, Commentary: pp. 247-251; Response: pp. 245-246.

Mokuau, Noreen, Hull, Grafton H., Jr., & Burkett, Suzanne. Development of knowledge by undergraduate program directors. No. 2, pp. 160-170.

Special Populations

Bishop, Kathleen Kirk, Rounds, Kathleen, & Weil, Marie. P.L. 99-457: Preparation for social work practice with infants and toddlers with disabilities and their families. No. 1, pp. 36-45.

Morris, Judith Kolb. Interacting oppressions: Teaching social work content on women of color. No. 1, pp. 99-110.

Students

Abramovitz, Mimi. Point/Counterpoint: Should all social work students be educated for social change? Pro! No. 1, Commentary: pp. 6-11; Response: pp. 17-18.

Bardill, D. Ray. Point/Counterpoint: Should all social work students be educated for social change? Con! No. 1, Commentary: pp. 13-17; Response: pp. 11-13.

Black, Phyllis N., Jeffreys, Dorothy, & Hartley, Elizabeth Kennedy. Personal history of psychosocial trauma in the early life of social work and business students. No. 2, pp. 171-180.

Bogo, Marion, Raphael, Dennis, & Roberts, Roberta. Interests, activities, and self-identification among social work students: Toward a definition of social work identity. No. 3, pp. 279-292.

Butler, Amy C. The impact of the 1-year-residency requirement on students preferring part-time study. No. pp. 212-223.

Carrillo, Dorothy F., Holzhalb, Carol M., & Thyer, Bruce A. Assessing social work students' attitudes related to cultural diversity: A review of selected measures. No. 3, pp. 263-268.

Knight, Carolyn. A comparison of advanced standing and regular master's students' performance in the second-year field practicum: Field instructors' assessments. No. 3, pp. 309-317.

Russel, Robin, Gill, Phyllis, Coyne, Ann, & Woody, Jane. Dysfunction in the family of origin of MSW and other graduate students. No. 1, pp. 121-129.

Saunders, Edward J. Confronting academic dishonesty. No. 2, pp. 224-231.

Strom, Kimberly & Gingerich, Wallace J. Educating students for the new market realities. No. 1, pp. 78-87.

Werrbach, Gail B. & DePoy, Elizabeth. Social work students' interest in working with persons with serious mental illness. No. 2, pp. 200-211.